
Title: A binding contract

Author: Lord Alarin

I, Lord Alarin hereby give the following rights unto the Elves of the Kingdom of Asur'Herenion in full knowledge that they shall deliver unto me one such lantern given unto them by a entity known as Pestilence. As soon as said lantern is delivered unto the Empire, all rights given unto the Elves are non-revokable and complete, if any member of the Shadowform Empire should disagree this document is a direct command from Lord Alarin to stand down regarding matters concerning one Dark Mist Tavern.

Lord Alarin does declare that the Elves of Asur'Herenion have the capability to ask and hold members of the Dark Mist Tavern staff accountable for their way of dress, their speech and their manner. The Elves of Asur'Herenion, also have the Empires permission in full to use the facilities of the Dark Mist Tavern to the extent that they may be used on the Night of All Hallows eve.

This contract does not approve elven consumption of Stygian vintage wine, and as such if any such wine is ingested the contract is immediately broken. All Elves shall refer to staff of the Dark Mist for manners

concerning refreshment, and shall not partake of any of the ancient wines in stock. Violation will result in death.

Failure on part of the Shadowform Empire to comply with this contract will render 2,500 gold pieces to the Kingdom, and the return of lantern discussed in page one.

Signed in flowing silver script

Lord Alarin

Queen Isilmea'Locke

Kingdom of Asur'Herenion